Report of the School Board.

We are glad to be able to report that the schools the past year have been in session for thirty weeks, and that we have been able, with but one exception, to retain our teachers that have served us so well in former years.

We can say that the work of the teachers has been in a high degree efficient and successful, and that the interest of the pupils has been well sustained.

We wish to call your attention to the table of statistics printed below. They show better than anything else the condition of our schools.

The treasurer's report is also well worthy of careful study.

In this report we desire to make a plea for the common school.

With the amount of money as raised last year and the further encroachment of that amount by high school tuitions, we must either lessen our school year or cut down the salaries of our teachers (already entirely inadequate for the efficient services they are rendering). Either of these alternatives is not in our opinion to be considered. The well-being of all our public affairs depend on an efficient public school system and every child should enjoy its benefit.

And we recommend that more money be raised for the common school or that some means be taken to lessen the burden of high school tuition. As has been said: "Education is expensive, ignorance much more so."
